

MUNICIPAL COURT BUDGET UP TODAY

Council Will Consider Judge Brown's $1,000,000 Dream' Item at Hearing

STRONG APPEAL PLANNED

City Council will take up the demands of the Municipal Court in the budget for 1921 this afternoon.

The court item of the 1921 budget is for nearly $1,000,000. It has been the object of attack, based on charges that President Judge Brown is trying to build up his department for political workers to further strengthen a personal political machine.

Arthur R. G. Morrow, chief check of the court, will lead a group of division heads to the Council chamber to point out any attempts to slash the $1,000,000 item.

Other items in the budget have come for a considerable cutting. Judge Brown's office demand is $1,000,000, extracted by particularly active while the $1,000,000 natural is under consideration. Some time ago members of Council made a tour of inspection of the buildings that house the court. They were shown what the particular work was being done.

Judge Brown took the occasion to deny emphatically the charges that political activity had crept into the work in any great degree.

Several councilmen called the committee expenditures refused to make known their opinions on it, but said after the hearing, during the last year, they saw no change. They are expected to speak at today's hearing.

Report Sent Out

On the second day of the session, creation of the $1,000,000 general and in an effort to justify its large expenditure of $8,000,000 in the purchase of justice for the court on the Parkway, Rice G. Garland, check and tax assessor, extraordinary in his insistence, recommended that the present head of the department be given a raise of $100,000.

PROTEST P. R. T. SERVICE

Chestnut Hill Users of Route 23 Demand Better Transportation

A protest against the trolley service on Route 23 in Chestnut Hill is to be made before the Public Service Commission by the William Bentin Division of the American Legion as a demonstration of what is wanted.

The service on route 23, the post offices there, the school districts, the post offices in the city and is a disgrace to Philadelphia.

Following the new change in service, the users of the service do not care to ride Chestnut Hill Wheel. Passengers are required to change cars in the Belmont place, the present beginning of the line, and use shuttle cars to Chestnut Hill and Wheel Point. The cars run irregularly and during inclement weather women and children are exposed to the elements.

A statue recently installed on these sides is the only monument from the citizens.

"Not only has a large amount of work been carried on in the railroad yards, but numerous changes in the road toward an improvement is to be seen. We have made both in the organization of the department and in the economy of the department and in the economy of the department of the same," he says.

Cites Work Done

All told there were 1,410,434 new cases and 10,000 car cases brought to the court. These were made up of 1,000,000 cases handled in the original division and not placed on probation. Much of it is remembered that in addition to supervising those whom the court places on probation, all of the cases with the exception of a part of those assigned to the court by the criminal division are investigated by the probation department before being brought to court, and that 298 new cases were disposed of without a court hearing, the majority of a large and varied class of minors, offenders, strangers and others.

The department has been strengthened in the last two years by the addition of 100 new employees, and 100 additional officers in various classes of the bureau, although nothing but organizational work for members of the staff. He said that partly through a gift of money coming from outside sources the library has been enlarged by the addition of about 1000 volumes.

No Library Room

Some difficulties have been experienced in making the fall session of the additional books, he said, over the power of the Bureau of Criminal Justice and Probation to take over the library in Ireland from the State of Ireland by law. The Bureau of Criminal Justice and Probation, he said, has not been able to attend sessions at the Philadelphia School for Boys in Cork. The Bureau has been enlarged by the addition of about 1000 volumes.

Mr. Robinson cited the 100 cases with a gloomy future ahead. He said:

"I wish to call your attention to the fact that the world is a much better place to live in now than it was 10 years ago, which I believe is due to the efforts of the men who are working for us."

The statement also signed by representatives of the Farmers' National Bank and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, was submitted to the District of Columbia Supreme Court by the Attorney and Swift companies, if not the most complete, which has ever been found in Cincinnati. The prisoners were released as Martin Hammann, forty-seven years old, of Cincinnati, and Charles Seawall, twenty-four years old, of Vandalia, Ill. Hammann recently received a term for counterfeiting in Philadelphia.

That was Mr. Robinson's only defense of the number of cases in the department. He followed it with a review of the work done, and the organization officers in various classes of the bureau, although nothing but organizational work for members of the staff. He said that partly through a gift of money coming from outside sources the library has been enlarged by the addition of about 1000 volumes.

6 ALLEGED GUNMEN TAKEN IN CAMDEN: 4 FROM HERE

Four Men Flew When Police Approach—Get Six Pistols

Six alleged gunmen, four from this city, were caught in Camden at midnight last night and are locked up, though no definite charge has been made against them.

They first appeared in two automobiles in Gloucester, where their suspicious actions and lack of lights caused Patrolman to notify the police and follow them to his car to Camden.

One machine gun with five men in it drove to the former, while another drove to occupants without resistance. Nothing was found on them, but in the car were live revolvers and twenty extra cartridges.

The other car also contained five men, but those left before it was overtaken at Third and Chestnut streets. The driver was arrested, and under his seat was found a loaded automatic.

The men arrested gave their names as: John Joseph, twenty-three years old; John Gravelle, twenty-three years old; Michael Froncione, thirty, 530 Federal street.

Angelo Demaggio, twenty-three, 2514 South Alder street,

Peter Spata, twenty-three, Warmock street,

Pietro Piana, twenty-five, 316 West Monroe street,

Benjamin Crullina, twenty-five, 1001 South Fifth street, Camden.
